ARMIES OCCUPY ULSTER TOWNS

By Associated Press.
Belfast, Ireland, March 21.—Ulster this morning presented a very martial aspect. All the towns were occupied by soldiers of the regular army, and other detachments were marching along the country roads with long trains of baggage and ammunition carts on their way to strengthen the various garrisons.

of infantry with machine guns and 2 batteries of field artillery, all equipped for active service, have arrived in the various towns of Ulster. These troops form the advance guard of a large armed force which the military authorities are sending to the North Province of Ireland to prevent the assumption of a local government by Anti-Home Rulers.

SOLDIERS IN MUTINY

By Associated Press.
London, England, March 21.—The outstanding feature of the news from Ireland was the disaffection among the officers of the regular army under orders to proceed to Ulster with their regiments. The actual number of resignations among them was still problematical but that they would be considerable was evident from the earnest early morning consultations among Cabinet Ministers of the best move to counteract the movement.

The actual facts of this disaffection is the more disconcerting to the military authorities since the army is already seriously short of commissioned officers.

Threats of a crisis in the army if a movement of regular troops was taken against Ulster has long been current and in some quarters it is believed that the sudden marching of a limited number of troops were ordered so that the military authorities might gather an idea as to how widespread the threatened disaffection was.

A mutiny of two companies of the Dorsetshire Regiment stationed in Belfast is reported by the Pall Mall Gazette.

The Pall Mall Gazette's message says: "When the men of the First battalion of Dorsetshire regiment were paraded in Belfast today and notified they were being transferred elsewhere, they threw down their arms. A sergeant stepped forward, saluted the officers and said, 'We will have no Home Rule here.' This is thought in some quarters to be an exaggerated version of reports of unrest among the regular troops in Ulster."

Immediately after Col. Seely, the Secretary of State for War, had been in audience with King George, Col. Seely summoned a meeting of the army council which took steps to replace officers who had resigned. According to reports, however, the number of vacancies is rapidly increasing and it seems possible that all the regular regiments which have been serving at Ulster may have to be withdrawn and replaced by fresh troops, as both men and officers have openly expressed their disinclination to take the offensive against men with whom they have been associated. This momentary shifting of the immediate crisis from Ulster to the army may give the peacemakers their desired opening. The return of Arthur Balfour, former Unionist Premier to London has given heart to the advocates of a compromise. He and Premier Asquith have served long years side by side in the political field and understand and appreciate one another.

GEORGE SOUNDS DEFIANT NOTE

By Associated Press.
London, England, March 21.—"Liberalism will not flinch one inch before the arrogant and insolent plague of Toryism," was the message conveyed today by David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer to a mass meeting of Liberals at Huddersfield. The Chancellor was talking about Ulster and the attitude of the Unionists. He said, "The country is confronting the gravest issue in the history of Democratic government since the days of the Stuarts. Representative government in this land is at stake. I am here on behalf of the government to say we mean to confront this defiance of popular liberties with resolute and unwavering determination, whatever the hazard may be. We are not fighting about Ulster, or about Home Rule. We are fighting all that is essential to the civil liberty of this country."

WARLIKE FEELING

Belfast, Ireland, March 21.—Every volunteer in Ulster stands ready for mobilization. The drug stores of Belfast have laid in supplies of surgical and medical equipment. The feeling of unrest among certain sections of the government troops is strong.

FIRST VICTIM

By Associated Press.
Dublin, Ireland, March 21.—The first victim of existing state of excitement in Ireland was a soldier at the Curragh camp, who was late for roll-call. He attempted to scale the walls of the barracks and was shot by a sentry. The Commander-in-Chief of the forces in Ireland, Sir Arthur Paget has arrived in the Curragh where conferences were in progress between officers who have resigned and commissions of the military authorities.

CASTRO CAUGHT IN RAID

By Associated Press.
Port of Spain, Trinidad, March 21.—General Cipriano Castro, former Dictator of Venezuela, whose whereabouts have been unknown for some time, was discovered here today when detectives raided a house in which he was quartered. He was very indignant over the action of the police.

Last night a party of detectives raided a hotel occupied almost solely by Venezuelans and found there 40,000 rounds of ammunition and a few revolvers. This caused a further search and resulted in the finding of Castro.

Among the Venezuelan residents there is great excitement as to the possibility of developments.

CAMP REMAINS AS HERETOFORE

By Associated Press.
Colliers, W. Va., March 21.—Striking miners of the West Virginia & Pittsburgh Coal Company maintained their camp near the company's property today notwithstanding the order of their leader, James Oates, who is on trial at Philippi.

Joseph Bowers, in charge of the camp during the absence of Oates, declared the camp will be maintained until ordered to move by President John White of the United Mine Workers. A number of arrests were made during the night for pistol "toting."

FIREMEN STRUCK BY BIG 4 TRAIN

E. T. Bowles, president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, who appeared before the senate investigating committee, admitted that he had engaged Clarence W. De Knight to work for him against railroad owned ship exclusion in the pendency of the Panama canal act before the senate committee and that he had paid $1,000 to De Knight. A contingent fee of $4,000 was not paid or demanded, he said, because the exclusion clause finally was incorporated in the act.

SORROWING FRIENDS GATHER AT STATION

Aged Veterans, Delegations From Lodges and Other Friends Meet Train Bearing Mortal Remains of Col. B. H. Millikan.

FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY AFTERNOON

Pall of Sorrow Rests Upon Entire Community Where Deceased Has Always Been Prominently Associated With All Large Movements—Brief Review of Unusual Activities of Washington's Late Foremost Citizen.

The remains of Col. B. H. Millikan arrived on the 7:39 train from Columbus Saturday morning and were accompanied by Mr. Jess Millikan, Mr. Conrad Schweitzer and Mr. C. H. Murray.

In waiting at the station was an escort of G. A. R. comrades, and a large number of personal friends and representatives of the Masons, Elks and Sons of Veterans, which order was named for Col. Millikan.

It was a sad cortege which moved from the station to the Millikan home on North street, and the sorrow which enveloped the escort encircled the entire town.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock, but plans for it await the arrival of the daughter, Mrs. Westerfield tonight.

The pall-bearers will be chosen to represent the Dahl-Millikan Grocery Company, the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, the Masons and the Elks' lodges.

The casket will be opened at the residence Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock when any friends, neighbors, G. A. R. comrades, Sons of Veterans or lodge brethren who wish to call at the home may do so.

On the same night Gov. Cox speaks at Chillicothe.

BIG GUNS TRAIN ON TORREON

Villa's Rebel Army About to Storm
Federal Fortifications.

FIGHT MAY OPEN AT ANY MOMENT

Rebel Chief Must Either Take the Town Without Delay or Retreat, as the Country Is Desert and Without Water—No Fighting of Consequence Occurred On the March South—Federalists Claim a Victory.

El Paso, Tex., March 21.—General Pancho Villa's rebel cannon to the number of 40 field pieces are trained upon the federal fortifications at Torreon, Gomez Palacio and Lerdo, the two suburbs of Torreon, and the battle may open momentarily. Villa will not say when he expects to give the word for the attack.

This news came to the rebel officials in Juarez. Villa's strength is given at 12,000 men, which is something more than the federal command, according to the last reports given out by Huertistas.

The advice given out stated that there had been no fighting of consequence on the march south by the rebel army. The rebels found that the federalists had advanced as far as Perno, but after slight skirmishing they retreated on the approach of the rebels, tearing up the railroads and burning the bridges. This made it necessary for Villa to dispatch his men on foot and horses, and made the progress for 100 miles very slow. As the country is a desert and without water, the destruction of the railroad puts Villa in a bad way for supplying his army, but he declared he had no fear from this source, as his men would soon be able to subsist "off Torreon."

Villa can not much longer delay, as

BRING PEACE VIA ELECTION

Vera Cruz, Mexico, March 21.—On excellent authority it can be stated that the conference between John Lind and Senor Rojas, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, resulted in the American diplomatic representative taking up with President Wilson the advisability of Senor Portillo Rojas assuming the provisional presidency and President Huerta working his campaign for the next election.
Senor Rojas left for Mexico City. It is not supposed that there is any doubt about Huerta becoming the successful candidate for the presidency, as all the governors now favor his selection.

CLAIM LAW IS A FAILURE

By Associated Press.

Berne, March 21.—Opponents of the prohibition of absinthe in Switzerland declare that since the law went into effect the consumption of that spirit has greatly increased. They claim that the principal effect has been to give absinthe the powerful and wide-spread publicity, and to introduce it into many homes where it was hitherto unknown. Another effect has been the flooding of the market with a host of inferior products destined to replace absinthe, which itself is smuggled in in large quantities and forms a fast growing and highly remunerative illicit industry.

They propose that a government monopoly of the sale of absinthe should be substituted for total prohibition. This, however, is strongly combated by temperance advocates.

BIG TRACK MEET IN COLUMBUS

College athletes and high school
sprinters are going to Ohio Field May 23 to engage in one of the biggest track meets ever arranged in the state. While they are not to compete against one another, it is expected that the records of the collegians and their younger brothers will make interesting comparisons, so that rooters in the grand stand are promised a brisk round of excitement.

Preliminaries in both the interscholastic and collegiate events, which have hitherto been held on different dates, will be conducted on Saturday morning. The finals will be put on in the afternoon, with two sets of judges. Contestants in the same event will follow each other.
As soon as the 100-yard dash is called,
for instance, both classes will be in readiness, and when the collegians are well on their way the high school sprinters will get on their marks. It is thought that this arrangement will save time and increase interest.

Visitors who arrive Friday before the meet will have opportunity to witness the University regiment at prize drill, followed by a sham battle between the freshmen and sophomores. As a closing ceremony for the year, colors are struck to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner." The Varsity "O" Association will entertain athletes and visitors in the evening. All accredited high schools in the state are eligible to compete in the contests by joining the Ohio High School Athletic Association.

AMERICAN CROOK DESERTS LONDON

By Associated Press.

London, March 21.—American crooks now give London a wide berth.
Superintendent William McCarthy,
of the Criminal Investigation Department of Scotland Yards, states that only on rare occasions does his department have to handle a case in which an American crook plays a part. When Frank Froest, McCar-thy's predecessor at the head of the Criminal Investigation Department, was serving his apprenticeship as a detective inspector, American crooks were so numerous that he was sent several times to America to study their habits on their native heath.

At present, however, London is suffering from an invasion of crooks from the colonies. Most of these come from Australia and South Africa and they are of the type which resort to violence without hesitation.
Many of them thrive by blackmailing wealthy colonials, who have taken up their residence in London. Some of these residents have pasts, the revelation of which would spell disaster and social oblivion, and the blackmailers who follow them from the colonies fatten on his knowledge.

In accounting for the disappearance from London of the American crook, Scotland Yard officials expressed the opinion that the skillful confidence man finds better openings on the continent while his less artful colleague finds a safer outlet for his energies at home.

EMIGRATION SWINGS TO THE ANTIPODES.

The tide of westward emigration has slackened decidedly. Four steamships scheduled to sail within the next month have had their advertised departures cancelled. At this time last year it was impossible to get even a third class berth on an English liner going to Canada without an order several weeks in advance.

The migration toward Australia continues but diminished in comparison with last year. It is expected to increase soon, however, with the first trial of the government plan to assist English lads to places of apprenticeship among South Australian farmers. Under legislation passed last session, the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Immigration is empowered to act as guardian of boys taking advantage of the plan, and ample safeguards have been placed about the interests of the boys as well as the rights of their employers.

The first party of boys for Australia will leave Liverpool late this month. This party will serve as an experiment, and if successful the plan will be carried out on a large scale. In the past Australia has complained that the adult Briton does not readily adjust himself to rural life in the Antipodes, and becoming discontented, joins the already overfilled ranks of labor in the cities, leaving the problem of rural depopulation as acute as ever. It is believed that by the time their apprenticeship ends the boys will be quite willing to stay on the farms.

HOTELS INADEQUATE.

Notwithstanding that London has spent $65,000,000 during the past ten years in building new hotels or improving old ones, largely for the accommodation of American visitors, the hotels are still overcrowded during the tourist season.

It is estimated that 100,000 Americans now pay visits of some length to London during each summer, whereas a few years ago the metropolis was declared to be only a stopping place for a day or so for tourists bound to the continent.

SAYS RADIUM NOT A CURE

By Associated Press.

London, England, March 21.—
"It would be well if those who are experimenting with radium would be silent for the next couple of years until they know where they are, and can make some definite announcement," said Dr. Charles Ryall, chairman of the medical committee of the Cancer Hospital, at a recent meeting of the governors.

"Radium," he added, "has not come to supplant surgery in the treatment of cancer, but to aid it in fighting the disease. The properties of radium are comparatively little known, and we are therefore going through the experimental stage of radium treatment, endeavoring to fathom its effect on disease, especially cancer, estimate its dosage and classify what cases are suitable for treatment by it. That will mean some years of work, but we can wait with confidence for a definite pronouncement, as the radium research work in the country is being carried out systematically and in the best hands."

Dr. Ryall said there was enormous field for research work at the Cancer Hospital but it was hampered by the inadequate supply of radium and its enormous cost.

WILL MEET AT WORLD'S FAIR

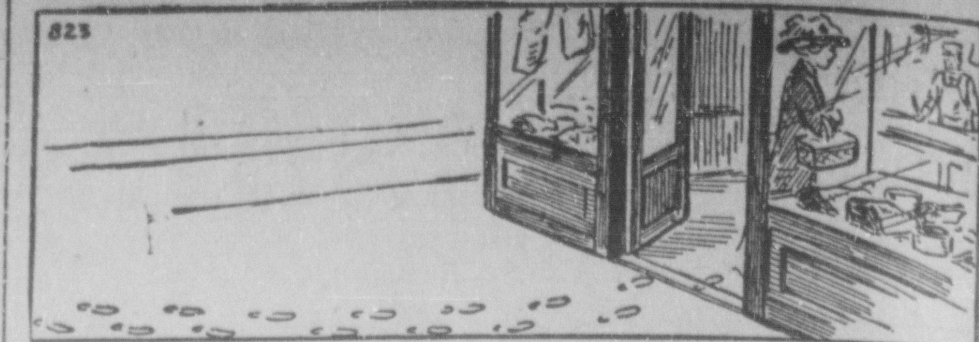

By Associated Press.

Brussels, March 21.—The Union of International Association composed of some fifty international associations, professional, scientific, technical, benevolent and political, has decided to organize a World's congress to meet next year at San Francisco during the Panama Exposition.

It appears from a communication received from San Francisco that 202 various congresses have already been announced. The Union's idea is that the World's Congress should be made up of delegates chosen by the national and international congresses which will assemble in San Francisco. No effort has yet been made toward a program.

RAILROADS NOT READY FOR STRIKE

Columbus, Ohio, March 21.—Hope that a coal strike in Ohio may be averted, after all, seemed to prevail
in mine operating circles Wednesday.
Several Columbus coal operators declared that the situation is brighter than it has been for some time. They said that meagre advices from Chi-

are holding another joint conference, augured well for peaceful settlement.

One hopeful feature of the situation is the fact that few of the railroads seem to fear a shutdown of the mine. The elaborate precautions on the part of the steam roads which marked a promised shutdown a few years ago, are now conspicuously lacking. As a rule, the roads have not laid up a big store of coal, whereas during the last trouble, each road had laid by a mountain of coal against a tie-up. By some the lack of precaution is taken as a hint that the operators are willing to make concessions and have so informed their biggest patrons. President John Moore of the United Mine Workers of Ohio, is among those attending the Chicago conference.

SCOTLAND YARD MUSEUM CLOSED

By Associated Press.

London, March, 21.—Because it was becoming as great an attraction for the morbid as the Paris morgue,
the criminal museum of Scotland Yards has been practically closed to all except those who can show some good reason for desiring to visit it.
The museum has never been opened to the general public, but it has not been difficult to obtain admission.
Now a permit must be secured from the Second Commissioner of Police, and the visits can only be made on one of two days in the week.

During the past year it became quite the rage for society women to obtain permits to view the gruesome relics which the place contains, and complaint was made that the museum was being turned into a side-show for the gratification of the morbidly curious. Some of the relics are decidedly ghastly, and these are displayed with a lack of reserve which according to the Scotland Yard authorities did not make fixed parties of visitors desirable. Besides the implements used in the commission of famous crimes, perhaps the most interesting exhibits in the place are death masks, formerly made of every criminal executed in England.

WILL WATCH TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN

By Associated Press.

Berlin, March 21.—German astronomers are already taking a lively interest in a total eclipse of the sun that occurs August 21. The city of Hamburg is fitting out an expedition at its own expense, and Prussia will give assistance to an expedition headed by Prof. Mieth, of the technological institute in Charlottenburg.

A number of German astronomers will attach themselves to American expeditions. Prof. Mieth's expedition, which will be chiefly for the purpose of making photographs of the eclipse, will go to the island of Alsten, far up on the coast of Norway, where the path of totality first touches the European Continent.

The Hamburg expedition will make its observations in Russia. It is understood that the Russian astronomers are making extensive preparations for facilitating the work of the American and other foreign expeditions by having the proper astronomical calculations worked out for each important point in the path of totality.

The City's Loss

In the death of Col. B. H. Millikan, which occurred at Columbus yesterday, the social and industrial life of Washington has been dealt a staggering blow.

When the angel of death summoned Col. Millikan every man, woman and child in Washington lost a true friend.

Rounding out a career which had its beginning in Washington, a life filled to overflowing with successes, well balanced with kind and generous deeds and a full measure of public service, Col. Millikan may be said to have been ready when the final summons came.

No citizen will be missed more from the life of this community than will Col. Millikan.

He was active in all lines of business and yet no public movement and no social event of worth during the many, many years of his life here, called for his assistance in vain.

He found time, despite the multitude of demands which the social and business life of the community made upon him, to become a national figure in the G. A. R. organization.

Thousands of Col. Millikan's deeds of kindness, of the substantial kind, will never be known, except by those whom he befriended in the hour of need.

He was never too much occupied with business, or too intent upon pleasure, to listen to the call of those who needed assistance and to extend the helping hand whenever his generous heart gave the command, and that was to nearly every appeal.

His life record is a monument which will live for many, many generations to come. His memory is enshrined in the heart of every resident of Washington, nearly all of whom have known him since their early childhood, and have looked to him to lead in all public movements.

The loss which Washington sustains in the death of Col. Millikan will be felt for years to come. His was a life so peculiarly entwined in the life of the community and so intimately with the lives of so many people, that his going away will be felt numberless times in the every-day business affairs, as well as in the heartache which followed the news of his death.

At the close of his life of more than the allotted three score years and ten, soldier, business man, public spirited, generous citizen, substantial friend to all, if ever of any mortal man, it may be written of Col. Millikan—Well Done—Enter in and receive thy reward.

Tariff Has Added to the Food Supply; American Farmer Is Industrious

By Secretary of Commerce WILLIAM C. REDFIELD

THE first and foremost influence of the tariff has been to ADD TO OUR FOOD SUPPLY.

For example, take the last three months of 1912 and the last three months of 1913. In the former we imported 112,000 cattle; in the latter 341,000. In the former we brought in 253,000 bushels of corn; in the latter 4,450,000 bushels. In the former we brought in 13,600 bushels of oats; in the latter 13,330,000 bushels; in 1912 about 39,000,000 pounds of rice, rice flour and rice meal; in 1913 64,500,000 pounds. In the last three months of 1912 we brought in 865,000 pounds of fresh meat. In the last three months of 1913 we brought in 33,500,000 pounds. In the last three months of 1912 we brought in 41,000 bushels of potatoes. In the last three months of 1913 we brought in 2,880,000 bushels.

THERE ARE MARKED INCREASES IN OTHER DIRECTIONS, AS, FOR EXAMPLE, IN PRINT PAPER AND OTHER ITEMS, BUT THE MAJOR FACT IS THAT OF THE INCREASE OF FOODS. THIS CAN ONLY BE A MATTER OF CONGRATULATION. THE FARMERS OF AMERICA HAVE NOTHING TO FEAR. THEIR EFFICIENCY IS SUCH ALREADY THAT THEY CULTIVATE TWENTY-SEVEN ACRES OF LAND WITH THE SAME FORCE THAT IS REQUIRED ABROAD FOR FROM FIVE TO SEVEN ACRES. ONE MAY CONFIDE WITH ENTIRE CONFIDENCE IN THE ABILITY OF OUR AGRICULTURAL COMMUNITY TO PRODUCE ITS CROPS AT A COST WHICH WILL MAKE PRICES REMUNERATIVE.

Poetry For Today

WHAT OF THAT?
"Tired," Well, what of that?
Didst fancy life was spent on beds of ease,
Fluttering the rose leaves scattered
by the breeze?
Come, rouse thee; go forth, 'tis called today.
Coward! Arise, go forth upon the way!

"Lonely." And what of that?
Some must be lonely; 'tis not given to all
To feel a heart responsive, rise and fall,
To blend another life into its own;
Work may be done in loneliness;
work on!

"Dark!" Well, what of that?
Didst fondly dream the sun would never set?
Dost fear to lost thy way? Take courage
yet;
Learn thou to walk by faith and not by sight;
Thy step will guided be, and guided right.

"Hard!" Well, what of that?
Didst fancy life one long summer holiday,
With lessons none to learn and naught but play?
Go, get thee to thy task; conquer or die!
It must be learned; learn it, then patiently.

"No help!" Nay, 'tis not so!
Though human help be far, thy God
is nigh,
Who hears the ravens, hears his children
cry.
He's near thee, whoso'er thy footsteps roam,
And he will guide thee, light thee,
help thee home.

Views of Others

THE ANIMAL AND THE MAN.
The United States Senate the other day agreed unanimously to a bill appropriating $500,000 for the Department of Agriculture to fight the hog cholera. This provision, as well as that for the disease of cattle, horses, sheep and poultry, is wise, for epidemics among the herds and flocks are so swift and so extensive in the deadly work that governmental aid is necessary to arrest their fearful ravages.

While there should not be a penny less spent on the animals of the nation, much more should be spent on people who are in sickness or distress. The government pays ever so much more attention and money to culture, condition and health of cows that raise the calves and give the milk than to mothers who make the boys and girls and the nation what they are.

Only so many cattle, horses, sheep or hogs can be put into a cattle car on the train, but tired mothers and innocent girls are jammed into a railroad or street car in a painful and immodest manner without a word of legal protection.

A man can be arrested on the street and fined who drives the underfed and overworked horse, but no official attention is paid to the one who drives the underfed and overworked man.

Fortunately, our country is beginning to realize the necessity of making better provisions for motherhood and childhood, and for those afflicted with disease of body and mind. While large grants of government money for diseased swine are justifiable, the human wants so imperative must not be forgotten.—Athens Messenger.

THEN AND NOW

THEN.

Sixteen years ago the battleship Oregon began the most remarkable long-distance race against time in all naval history. On this date in 1898 it left San Francisco to join the warships in Atlantic waters.

There was an effort to surround the Oregon's movements with secrecy, but everybody guessed her mission and bets were made on the success of her trip. Tension relaxed for a time after the Oregon appeared at Callao, Peru, her first stop, but it became the more acute as she steamed southward toward the Straits of Magellan where a Spanish torpedo boat lurked and tempestuous seas made the passing of the straits hazardous.

After 33 days out of San Francisco the Oregon dashed into the Atlantic, and up the coast, evading the Spanish warships reported lying in wait for her.

On the evening of May 24 she steamed into Jupiter Bay, having covered the 14,000 miles in 67 days. The record trip made her commander the now Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark (retired), a national hero.

NOW.

Today the Oregon's trip may be safely recorded as the only one and the last one of its kind. No other warship is likely to be called upon to make the circuit of South America. Before another war can come to pass, the gateway of the oceans will have been opened at Panama.

Then a modern battleship steaming at the same rate of the Oregon, might make Jupiter Bay, Florida, from San Francisco in less than twenty days. She would not suffer for want of coal as did the Oregon. She would need to refill her bunkers but once, and this while passing through the canal.

During the 8 to 12 hours passage of the isthmus, the engineers could repair or overhaul her machinery, and banacles, the bane of high speed would be cleaned. Thus refreshed the battleship could dash across the Gulf of Mexico and into battleline well stocked with both fuel and ammunition.

WILL REBUILD NATIONAL PIKE

Actual work of rehabilitating the National Road east of Columbus will be commenced about May 1, when the state and federal government acting in conjunction will begin improving 24 miles of the old highway. Contracts for the work will be awarded April 15.

On request of federal authorities at Washington the original plan of reconstructing the road with brick was abandoned and concrete will be used instead. This was occasioned, according to federal officials, because of the expense of brick paving. The federal government would not give assistance unless the work was done for $16,000 a mile or less. By reason of the distance from railroads, which would occasion a long haul for materials, the state highway department found that it could not find contractors who would bid on the work at the figures placed by federal authorities.

Two Counties; Two Contracts.
That portion of the National pike which will be constructed this year runs from Zanesville, in Muskingum county, west to near Hebron, in Licking county, a distance of 24 miles. As the road lies in two counties, two contracts will be let. Ten miles lie in Muskingum county and 14 miles in Licking county.

The total cost of construction as planned will be about $440,000. Of this amount the federal government will pay $120,000. Muskingum county $100,000 and Licking county $140,000. The remaining $80,000 will be paid by the state out of the one-fourth of the one-half mill levy, as provided by the Hite road law in constructing main market roads.

Final plans for constructing the road were completed in Washington last week between State Highway Commissioner Marker, the director of the federal office of public postmaster general. The terms were entered into in writing.

United States and State Unite.
All plans and specifications were prepared by the state highway department. In construction there will be joint supervision between the federal and state road departments. The federal office will station an engineer in Ohio to look after the work until it is completed. The state highway department will assume all responsibility for engineering and the department will have a corps of engineers and inspectors on the job at all times to direct work.

The roadbed proper, which is to be of concrete, will be 14 feet wide. There will be an earth berm of several feet on both sides of the concrete, where light vehicles can travel during good weather.

State Highway Commissioner Marker has been confronted with numerous obstacles since he first started out last summer to obtain federal aid on the old National pike. After the money once had been promised circumstances arose which almost resulted in Ohio's portion being switched to another state. Mr. Marker kept on the job. He made many trips to Washington to present Ohio's claim, and was compelled to fight opposition from other states at every turn. By the action taken at Washington this week federal aid is clinched and work now is ready to proceed.—Exchange.

RAILROADS ORDERED TO DISINFECT PENS

No More Sick or Cholera Swine to be Shipped From Fayette County—Railroads Forbidden to Move Shipment of Hogs Unless Permit Accompanies Each Car—All Swine Sold for Shipment Must be Inspected Before Moved From Farm Where Raised—Facts for Buyers and Sellers.

All railroads in the county have been notified that all stock yards in the county must be cleaned and disinfected by March 30th. A fine of $50 to $500 is provided as penalty for failure to comply with the orders. The orders have been issued by the Agricultural Commission of Ohio, and is in connection with the work of hog cholera eradication in Fayette county.

All stock yards are declared to be infected with hog cholera, and after the yards have been cleaned and disinfected, then no hogs may be placed in the pens until a permit is issued by Dr. H. A. Sault, who has direct charge of the work in this county.

Not a hog will be shipped from the county after March 30th, and until further notice unless a permit is obtained by the man who buys the hogs, and when a herd of hogs is purchased the animals will be inspected upon the farm of the man who raised them before they are hauled to any station for shipment.

The loading or unloading of infected swine in any stock yards in the county, is punishable by fine.

No more sick or cholera hogs will be shipped from Fayette county. All sick hogs will be treated free of charge, and any violations, or dodging of the rules laid down by the Agricultural Commission in regard to shipments, will be prosecuted.

Not only must a permit be obtained before loading hogs in this city and at every point in the county, but every shipment made from the county, whether loaded in the county or from stock pens in adjoining counties, must be made under special permit.

By this method the movement of cholera hogs from one point to another will be prohibited, and the work of eradicating the disease will be much easier and thorough.

Buyers in making purchases of hogs will purchase the animals subject to approval of the veterinarians in charge of the work here, or run the risk of sick hogs being turned back upon their hands.

All efforts will be made by those in charge of the eradication work to make inspection and furnish permits without undue delay, so that persons selling and buying hogs that are not sick have nothing to fear from the rigid rules established, it is explained.

BUSINESS WILL BE SUSPENDED

As a tribute to the memory of the late Col. B. H. Millikan, and as an evidence of the great esteem in which he was held by his fellow townsmen, all business will suspend in this city Monday afternoon during the funeral services of Col. Millikan, which will be held at 2 o'clock. The suspension of business will be from 1:30 to 3:00 p. m.

NOSE FRACTURED BY HEAVY PULLEY

While at work in the M. Hamm Fertilizer plant Friday, Mr. Fred Hamm was badly injured when a heavy pulley fell from over his head, striking him full in the face with the result that he was knocked down and his nose fractured.

A physician was summoned, and his wounds were dressed at once. He was taken to his home and will probably not be able to resume his work for a few days. His escape from death was miraculous.

FREIGHT WRECK NEAR MUSSELMAN

The derailment of a number of freight cars on the C. H. & D. near Musselman, Friday afternoon, resulted in the detouring of the evening passenger trains by way of Midland City, over the B. & O.

It required several hours to clear the tracks and open the road to traffic once more, and as a result a number of freights were required to take sidings and wait for several hours.

The wreck was one of the most expensive on the road for several hours.

LICENSES READY

Owners of dogs in this city have been given until April 1st to comply with the ordinance requiring the licensing of all dogs.

The supply of tags and licenses was exhausted, but a new supply is now on hands at the Mayor's office.

So Easy!

"While I was in Berlin last summer," said the globe trotter, "I stopped with an artist friend for the season. One day the artist's wife had been showing the sights of the town to a solemn visaged cousin. The artist was in his room when the ladies returned from their tour and was so very busy with his work he did not look up. The cousin looked on in silence, and when my artist friend had finished his drawing she said:

"Oh, Mr. Jones, I never even imagined that drawing was so easy!"

"Which reminds me of a story they tell of Joachim, the famous violinist. One day he watched the skaters from his window until he decided that he would try it himself. The attendant after strapping the skates endeavored to show the distinguished musician how to strike out, first with one foot and then with the other. Legs got tangled, and Joachim shot into a grotesque scrawl.

"Ya, ya, ya!" exclaimed the attendant as he assisted the famous violinist to his feet. 'It is not quite so easy as playing the fiddle. Yes?'—New York Sun.

Queer People of Papua.

In the Girara country, Papua, a district of New Guinea, where the country is almost entirely submerged, the natives are said to claim descent from the dog. They possess five totems, which are drawn on all their houses. Their villages are erected on hillocks so as to be clear of the water, and the people of each village inhabit one large, common house, sometimes as much as 400 to 500 feet long and 60 to 80 feet in width. The center of this huge building is a kind of common hall, which is used only by the men, while the walls of the structure are divided into cubicles in three or four floors, access to which is gained by means of ladders. The women are not allowed to enter the building by the same door as the men. A great deal of sorcery prevails in the western division. In the wilder parts of the country the chief is himself a head sorcerer. He claims to be able to separate his spirit from his body and to send it on various missions, including that of killing people.

Malaria.

It has been definitely proved that the disease known as "malaria" is caused by the bite of the mosquito of the genus called Anopheles claviger. The destruction of the mosquito, therefore, carries along with it the destruction of malaria. There is not much doubt that sooner or later science will hit upon the ways and means of completely exterminating the pestiferous insect which is responsible for so much loss to humanity.—New York American.

DEATH CALLS AFTER LONG ILLNESS

With much sympathy for Dr. P. E. Decatur and his two young children. Washington friends learned of the death of Mrs. Decatur Friday night at the home of her parents in Cincinnati.

The long strain of Mrs. Decatur's illness, with its attendant anxiety, and the added shock of his mother's sudden death, has been met with great fortitude by Dr. Decatur, but his sorrow and double loss is beyond the help of mere human sympathy.

During her residence in this city Mrs. Decatur won warm personal friends, who sincerely regret that a young life, bright with prospects for usefulness and happiness could not be spared.

Saturday's Enquirer gives the following account of Mrs. Decatur's illness and death:

"A remarkable case that puzzled eminent medical practitioners, it develops, preceded the death last night of Mrs. E. Henrietta Decatur, of Washington C. H., Ohio, at the home of her father, Dr. H. H. Hawley, a prominent Cincinnati homeopathic physician, 406 West Eighth street.

"Mrs. Decatur had been an invalid since suffering a stroke of paralysis three years ago. Last June she came to Cincinnati to visit her father, and as she was unable to travel on a train the trip from Washington C. H. was made to here in an automobile. About six weeks ago blood poisoning developed, and her death had been momentarily expected since then. During the past two months her father at different times called in several specialists to pass their opinion on her case.

"Mrs. Decatur was born in Genesee county, New York, 33 years ago. She was brought to Cincinnati by her parents when she was 3 years old. She was graduated from Woodward High school, and was an accomplished pianist and vocalist having at many times sang in churches in this city and Washington, D. C. Following her marriage eight years ago to Dr. Decatur she went to Mansfield, Ohio, and three years later she and her husband removed to Washington C. H. She was a prominent member of the Washington C. H. Order of The Eastern Star.

"Besides her parents and husband, Mrs. Decatur leaves a 6-year-old daughter and a 3-year-old son. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at her father's residence. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery."

WILL SPEED THEM UP ON THE B. & O.

Beginning today the trains on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern will assume the fast running time of the old regular schedules. As will be remembered the times of all trains were reduced about a year ago as a result of the floods. The tracks and bridges which were damaged or destroyed have been replaced, and conditions are back at normal throughout the entire territory served by this road.

The order inaugurating this change was issued after an inspection of the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, between St. Louis and Chillicothe, by President Daniel Willard, Vice President A. W. Thompson, General Manager J. M. Davis and their respective staffs.

FARMER FALLS HEADLONG DOWN FLIGHT OF STAIRS

Charles Londerman, Residing at Staunton, Seriously Injured at An Early Hour This Morning When He Steps Into Open Stairway in the Darkness—Will Recover.

Charles Londerman, aged 50 years, residing in the Mary Hines property in Staunton, had a very narrow escape from instant death about two o'clock Saturday morning, when he slipped at the head of the stairway and tumbled headlong to the bottom, where he was picked up more dead than alive.

Mr. Londerman had arisen and was in the act of descending the stairs, and the surroundings being somewhat new to him he stepped off the landing into the opening of the stairway and fell some twelve feet, turning a complete somersault before striking the lower steps.

Dr. Rowe of this city was summoned by telephone and when he arrived found Mr. Londerman suffering intensely from a fractured scapula, fractured ribs, and severe cuts and bruises about the head and shoulders. In addition to the injuries above mentioned it is thought that he sustained internal injuries. However, his injuries are not regarded as fatal, and within the next two or three weeks he will probably be able to resume his work.

Mr. Londerman recently moved into the Hines property from a farm in Marion township, having sold his farm. He is well known in this city.

In Social Circles

There isn't anything in the world like a College Glee club concert. It takes those of the audience who were college boys and girls back to the happiest, most care-free days of their lives, and it gives insight into the delights to those not having college experiences.

Everybody loves a Glee club concert when it is a good one, and the Ohio Wesleyan Glee club concerts are heralded widely as among the most successful musical events of the kind.

Last year's O. W. U. concert aroused the prediction that a re-appearance this year would bring out a banner attendance and the prediction was fulfilled Friday night by a splendid audience that filled the immense High school auditorium.

That the audience was delighted was equally proven by the persistent recalls that followed every number.

The Glee club is made up of a fine looking bunch of twenty fellows, representing an aggregation of musical talent rather out of the ordinary.

The program was varied, the first part a fine concert program, part second given by the evening's reader, Miss Ruth Jackson, and the third part a potpourri of fun and nonsense, with the introduction of tuneful music.

The club's ensemble work was excellent, parts well balanced and the choruses rendered with smoothness and artistic finish.

The chorus, "All Hail to God in Light Arrayed," from Lohengrin-Wagner, was the piece de resistance of the evening, a superb composition and superbly rendered.

The Varsity quartet contributed beautiful quartets and Mr. P. B. Parks delighted the audience with his fine bass solos.

The pianist, Mr. R. W. Wright, a brilliant performer, received one of the most enthusiastic recalls of the evening.

Miss Jackson, who is a London girl, is a very pleasing reader, graceful and natural in manner and possessing a sweet, clear voice. Her impersonation work in a touching story, "The Fernald's Christmas," was good, and she excelled in the Italian dialect of a taking little encore.

The entire club presented "L'Arde" an operetta, in a scene in the Den of the Bolta Hunka Pi Fraternity House.

It was an original little bit of humor, glimpsing fraternity life and its jolly, versatile pleasures.

A clever exhibition of cartooning by H. M. Duff, produced by Maynard

Craig, of this city, in humorous vein, made one of the hits of part three, and catchy song and music of guitar and banjo rounded out a spicy little college scene.

The concert throughout was greatly enjoyed, and all the more so in that Winchell and Maynard Craig, of this city, are members of the Glee club, and Mr. Dean L. Ricketts, son of Rev. Ricketts, of Staunton, had charge of the program.

The O. W. U. Glee club will always find a cordial welcome in Washington C. H.

More than ordinary interest attached to a beautiful dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Adam Beck Friday in honor of Mrs. Beck's father, Mr. C. H. Johnson, of Selden, and his 85th birthday.

Mr. Johnson is one of the county's pioneer residents and was one of the party making the memorable trip to the California gold fields in '49. He holds his own remarkably, and retains the same keen interest in affairs and people of his younger years.

A host of friends in town and county are hoping that the kindly gentleman, who always has a word of greeting for them, will celebrate many more birthdays.

The dinner was a family affair of twenty covers and an occasion of memorable pleasure.

A brilliant dance followed the Glee club concert in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple Friday night, in compliment to the O. W. U. Glee club and a number of visiting college girls here for the concert.

Seventy-five couples attended and the affair was one of the gayest in which the younger society has participated this winter.

Miss Jackson, the reader of the concert, and Mr. Winchel Craig, led the grand march.

Parker's orchestra furnished the music which was fine, and the splendid floor of the banquet hall made dancing an added delight.

A buffet lunch was served.

Miss Thelma Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Myers, entertained a host of little friends yesterday afternoon in honor of her thirteenth birthday. The afternoon was delightfully passed with games and music.

Two prizes were given, won by Lavin Kelly and Fay Nelson. Ice cream, candy, pop corn was served after which the girls went merrily home, wishing their friend many more happy birthdays.

Mr. Otha Culberson of Milledgeville, was the guest of Edwin Jones Friday night to attend the O. W. U. Glee Club concert.

Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Soddars and daughter, Evelyn, are spending Sunday with relatives in Sabina. Mrs. Soddars and daughter.

Maynard Craig entertained at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Craig last night, a quintet of the Glee club, Messrs. Brown, Robert Grove, Ralph Wright, Seney Blue and Dean Ricketts. The club returned Saturday morning to give a concert in Delaware tonight.

STATE EXAMINER PARROTT FILES REPORT OF FINDINGS

Copies of the report of State Examiner E. K. Parrott, who recently spent several weeks examining the books of the various office of the county, were received by various officials at the Court House Saturday morning.

The report covers the period from July, 1912, to January, 1914, and with the exception of a few errors noted, contains little of importance.

Sheriff Nelson's records were found to be kept in a neat and accurate manner, and the manner of making his quarterly reports was praised.

All records in the clerk of court's office were found to be kept according to law, and in a "neat and correct manner."

With the exception of the overpayment of a few dollars, and some comment on the execution of some written contracts, the affairs of the commissioners' office were found in splendid condition.

Probate Judge Allen was also commended for the manner in which the affairs of the office are conducted, and his books were pronounced "models of neatness and accuracy, with not a single omission."

Several small errors in items omitted from the cash book by former Judge Patton are noted, and in one instance the failure to carry $75 forward in the books was noted, and the amount was paid by Mr. Patton when the error was found by the examiner. A total of $84 in addition to the $75 is reported as omitted.

Taken as a whole the report reflects no little credit upon the county officials and the manner in which the affairs of their respective offices are conducted.

Miss Mary Kelson is spending the spring vacation with her sister, Miss Grace, in Youngstown.

Mr. W. T. Miers, salesman for W. T. Raleigh Co., is sick at his home on S. North street.

Messrs. Will E. Summers and Harry Buchanan will spend Sunday in Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dahl and daughters, Misses Charlotte and Nina, who have been spending the winter in Florida, left Daytona, Fla., Saturday morning, called by the death of Col. B. H. Millikan. They expect to arrive Monday morning.

Chas. Willis was home from Denison university for the Glee club concert.

Mr. Earl Peterson will spend Sunday at his home in Aurora, Ind.

Coining a Word. Nothing could be more fallacious than the common notion that whatever the dictionary says is right. Every one of them contains much that is not right. Worcester, for instance, had a word, "phantomnation," defined as meaning "illusion," which was copied from the cranky work of a man named Jodrell, who presented as one word every two word phrase not, according to his idea, in regular grammatical construction. He had made the word from Pope's line "The phantom nations of the dead" and credited it to Pope. His obsession led to many other ridiculous perversions of language. The one mentioned was repeated in each work printed before 1890, when it was dropped.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Arithmetic Justice. Rough and ready justice in Mexico in the days of President Diaz is illustrated by the following story:

In a lonely part of the south a train had been robbed by the inhabitants of a certain village. The president told a young officer to take his company and "put an end to that sort of thing." The young officer had every house searched. Almost all contained stolen property. He then marshaled the villagers, picked out every fortieth man and had him shot. After this he said: "I am taking my troops away, but if any more train robberies take place we shall come back and shoot every twentieth man. Should it be necessary to return again, every tenth man will be executed."

No more trains were attacked.

"Yes; and he gave me his consent, then asked me to lend him $10."—Baltimore American.

LARGE NUMBER ENJOY SUPPER

The Ladies' Guild of the Presbyterian church served one of their noted chicken pie suppers to a large number Friday evening.

The supper was fully up to its established standard, hot, bountiful and delicious.

The tables, decked with spring flowers, and the white robed waitresses, contributed to an attractive dining room scene.

THE POSTOFFICE AND THE EXPRESS

The approaching liquidation of the United States Express Company and its disappearance from the business world calls attention to the rise of the express business. Strange, but the deficiency of our postal system called it into being, while the efficiency of the system pronounced its doom. Prior to 1845, for a letter of minimum weight, the postage under 30 miles was 6 cents, 30 to 80 miles, 10 cents; 80 to 150 miles, 12½ cents; 150 to 400 miles, 18 3-4 cents and over 400 miles 25 cents.

It was this state of fact that prompted private enterprise to compete with the government in the carrying of small parcels. So William Harden, the pioneer, began in 1839 carrying small parcels between Boston and New York, and thus the express business began.

The Adams Express Company grew out of this undertaking a year later, and in 1841 the American Express Company came into existence. These companies seemed to have occupied the field until 1852, when the Wells-Fargo Company started in. The United States Express Company came in two years later. That was in 1854, and now it is the first of the great companies to succumb.—Ohio State Journal.

Reading For Boys.

Our young barbarians are primitive beings. Life is to them a picture rather of physical activities. Action is all. They would rather sail a boat or kick a ball than read a book, and when they are cajoled into reading by a flaming wrapper or a color plate it is not for ideas or aesthetic impressions. As Stevenson said long ago, "Eloquence and thought, character and conversation were but obstacles to brush aside as we dug blithely after a certain sort of incident, like a pig for truffles." Not for potatoes or other homely food; to the boy the merely real spells dullness: "A day of my life at school" is simply boring. The healthy boy hungers and thirsts for incidents and situations outside his experience, so ardently indeed that he will weave into the sad texture of ordinary things the bright hues of romance.—Herbert Strang in T. P.'s Weekly, London.

Not Inoculated.

During a session of the supreme court of Maine a tedious and complicated suit had well nigh exhausted the patience of counsel on both sides. One of the lawyers engaged was a certain Appleton, said to be the witliest lawyer in all New England.

Opposing him was a lawyer of pompous mien and much avoidances, who committed blunder after blunder, until even the judge became irritated. After the commission of a particularly aggravating error this lawyer said: "I beg your honor's pardon, but that was another mistake. I seem to be inoculated with dullness today."

"Inoculated, brother?" asked Appleton. "Why, I thought you had it in the natural way."—Lippincott's.

Jackal Flies of India.

There are certain East Indian flies, several varieties of them apparently of similar type to our own house favorite, Musca domestica, that have developed a rather ingenious, if somewhat disreputable, way of making a living. This is the story told by Captains Patton and Craig in the Indian Journal of Medical Research. The proboscis of these flies is soft and not suitable for piercing the skin of man or the lower animals. So they hang around some one of the several types of biting flies, and when the latter pierces the skin of a victim they crowd him away and use the incision for feeding themselves. If the biter happens to be too large or fierce thus to be driven from his prey, the fly jackals wait until he is finished and then take his place. In view of these observations it seems quite possible that the so called non-biting flies may play a hitherto unsuspected role in the transmission of disease.

His Misguided Taste.

"Why, there's Hen Peck over there! I wonder his wife lets him come out alone! Good gracious, what an atrocious necktie he's wearing!"

"Don't tell him so."

"Why not?"

"He bought it all by himself."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Right Side Up.

"Now, this car is so constructed," said the agent, "that it can't possibly turn turtle."

"Well, I should say not!" said Jinks. "At the price you ask for it, it oughtn't to turn anything short of diamond backed terrapin."—Harper's Weekly.

Spring Fertilizers

will be more generally used this year in spring crops than ever before

FOR TWO REASONS:

FIRST

Farmers who have experimented find their yield increased and the more bushels the more dollars.

SECOND

Fertilized crops mature earlier and the quality of the grain is much better. Especially is it important to grow first-class corn, as under the act of the Federal Agricultural Commission all corn will be graded after June 1st.

There are no Fertilizers on the market more profitable than WILLIAMS & CLARK FERTILIZERS

In them the right plant foods for the growing crops—be it Corn, Oats, Wheat or any other crop—is properly compounded for the best results.

Fayette County's Leading Prize Winners in the National and State Corn Shows, both this year and last year, used THESE FERTILIZERS in growing prize crops.

WILL NOT YIELD TO ULSTERITES

British Cabinet Ministers Speak of Irish Situation.

ULSTER BARRACKS REINFORCED

Two Regiments Sent From the South While the Troops in Ulster Are Moved to New Stations—Hundred Cavalry Officers at Curragh Reported to Have Resigned Their Commissions.

London, March 21.—Officers of regiments in Ireland which have been ordered to Ulster are resigning their commands. This oft-predicted result of what the Unionists call the bullying and dragooning of Ulster is the outstanding feature of the situation.

Dublin dispatches say that about a hundred officers have already resigned at the Curragh camp alone. It is stated that this wholesale abandonment of commissions follows the receipt at Curragh of a peremptory order from the war office to the effect that any officers who were not prepared to serve in Ulster must immediately resign or otherwise they would be dismissed from the service.

The resignations are said to be mainly in the cavalry regiments. This is likely enough, as British cavalry officers are usually rich men by whom a military career is often adopted as an attractive pastime rather than a serious occupation. The cavalry regiments now in Dublin city and the Curragh camp are the Fifth lancers, the Sixteenth lancers and the Fourth hussars.

The government began to dispose of its regular troops in Ireland so that they may be in a position to deal with any situation that arises. The cooler men among the Loyalists and the Ulster Unionists, however, believe that nothing resembling war is in sight.

Two regiments were sent from the south to reinforce the Ulster garrisons, while the troops in Ulster were moved to new stations, in conformity with the custom that in the event of hostilities or rioting soldiers should not be compelled to encounter people with whom they had formed friendships. In pursuance of the same rule some Irish recruits were sent from the Armagh recruiting station to England.

NEW SEA FOOD BECOMES POPULAR

Washington, D. C., March 21.—With a tempting list of receipts, and backed by the experience of a unique and successful campaign in Boston, the United States Bureau of Fisheries has undertaken to add a new article to the popular diet in the form of sea mussels. Since the middle of January, by the aid of Professor I. A. Field, of Clark University, and Mr. Charles Doucet, chef of the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, the Federal Government has succeeded in bringing this hitherto neglected sea food into such prominence that each of a score or more of Boston's most prominent hotels, and restaurants now make it a regular feature of their bills of fare.

Dealers as well as the hotels and housekeepers have been quick to take advantage of the new opportunity. By means of placards advertising sea mussels and bearing the endorsement of the Bureau of Fisheries, the markets have exploited them extensively, and the demand has spread to other Massachusetts towns and to Rhode Island.

Why this delicious food has been so neglected in America is not easily explained. In Great Britain, Holland and France millions upon millions of pounds of sea mussels are consumed annually, and in France and Holland the demand necessitates cultivation of mussels just as of oysters. But until recently the general public of the United States has hardly known of the existence of the sea mussel.

PUMPKIN EXPLODES

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 21.—Mrs. James Crashier of Freedom Plains, Dutchess county, is minus a kitchen range, and wonders why she escaped without serious injury. A pumpkin which she was thawing out in the oven blew up and wrecked the stove, besides shattering every window pane in the kitchen. Steam which formed inside the pumpkin expanded so much that the explosion followed.

WHITACRE'S CHARGE

Canton, O., March 21.—Congressman John J. Whitacre returned to his home here pleased over the reception which he says his petitions are being given throughout the state. Incidentally he produced a letter which he said was sent out by the Stark county liquor license bureau to saloonkeepers and charged that it was the work of the efforts of Governor Cox's alleged political organization.

NO EVIDENCE OF LOBBYING

Washington, March 21.—"There is no evidence here of any $50,000 fund," said Senator Overman, chairman of the senate lobby committee, at the conclusion of the committee's investigation of a report that such a sum was being used in Washington by representatives of prison labor contractors to defeat the pending Hughes bill to restrict marketing of convict-made goods.

JUDGE RELEASED

Upper Sandusky, O., March 21.—Under a writ of habeas corpus Probate Judge W. P. Rowland was taken from the custody of Sheriff Crum of Crawford county and placed in charge of Sheriff Keller here. A warrant had been issued and served for Rowland's arrest because he did not produce a will in Crawford county when it was demanded by Judge Keller of Bucyrus.

DEADLY PRANK

Hamden, O., March 21.—Playfully handling a new carving knife, and mistaking its keen edge for the blunt side, William Peck, an old soldier of McArthur, drew it across the throat of his niece, Mrs. Robert Rauck of Chillicothe, whom he was visiting. The slash almost severed the jugular vein. Prompt action by a physician saved the woman's life.

NATURAL GAS SICKENS SEVEN

Cleveland, O., March 21.—When Philip Weinberg, a grocer, arose he found his home filled with gas. His wife and six children were unconscious on the floor or in bed. He struggled with them one at a time until he had carried all out of doors. One son, Isadore, 24, is dying at a hospital. Samuel, 20, has but slight chance for recovery. The others were revived by hard work by neighbors who were summoned. A leaking stove in one bedroom had caused the trouble.

MAN FROZEN

Youngstown, O., March 21.—The body of an unidentified man of 40 was found in a field near the Mahoning Rug company's plant. Apparently he had been frozen to death.

BELL TOLL LINES OPEN TO INDEPENDENTS

From now on the toll lines of the Bell Telephone system, which connect over 70,000 places in this country, are open to independents. The form of contract has been drawn and is available to any independent company which applies for it. Having sold its $30,000,000 stock holdings in the Western Union Telephone Company and completed its contract with the independents, the separation agreement is practically completed in less than three months. The only remaining detail, so far as original plans are concerned, is the separation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Union, which will be accomplished at the annual meeting of the latter company next month.

The short period in which the separation was possible of completion was largely due to the fact that the management of the telephone and telegraph companies was kept entirely separate and distinct. Also there apparently was no hitch in the program worked out between the telephone company and the government.

The contract prepared and ready for submission to independent companies for the use of Bell system toll lines carries practically the same terms as those contained in the agreement with the government. In extending this privilege to the independents it should be realized that there is suddenly opened up for their use a total of toll wires of about 2,500,000 miles.

The attitude of the independent companies toward the telephone company's offer is still a matter of doubt. It is to be noted that, except in isolated instances, the independents have refrained from commenting on the offer, preferring to adopt a policy of watchful waiting.—Exchange.

WANTED TO MATCH COINS FOR $35,000

Hugh S. Fullerton, writing of American gambling and gamblers in the March American Magazine, tells the following story about John W. Gates:

"The class of professionals are scarcely more interesting than the habitual players. There are 'fiends' who gamble at certain games with their own money. The late John W. Gates was one of them. Gates gambled at every opportunity, on anything and everything. I have seen him at the traps at a shooting match, betting on every shot and matching dollars between shots merely to keep up interest. He cared nothing for the money, but loved the excitement. They tell an excellent story of Gates down at Memphis. Memphis is a great poker town, and probably no place in America has so many standard-gauge poker players as the Chickasaw Guards Club boasts. They love poker. Gates was in Memphis and a crowd of the good players desired to entertain him, so they made up a roll of money and went to invite him to play. He protested that he would be delighted to play except for the fact that he was compelled to catch a train in an hour.

"We'll make it an object," Mr. Gates, suggested one of the entertainment committee. 'We have about thirty-five thousand dollars you can win by staying over tonight.'

"I'm sorry, gentlemen," said Mr. Gates, 'I can't stay; but I'll tell you what I'll do; I'll match you heads or tails for it.'

"Everything in life was a gamble with Gates. He lived on the excitement of it."

CAILLAUX ON STAND

His Party Would Have Him Stand For the Presidency.

Paris, March 21.—The commission which was appointed to investigate the charges that the trial of Henri Rochette, the notorious swindler and promoter, had been allowed to become outlandish at the request of M. Caillaux, who, resigned recently as minister of finance, did not need any extra powers, as all the witnesses who were summoned were eager to testify.

The first sentence of Former Premier Monis illustrates how closely the personal and political questions are interwoven. He said Caillaux had sent him to see Public Prosecutor Fabre about the postponement of the Rochette trial and that Caillaux said he wanted to be agreeable to Maurice Bernand, who was Rochette's lawyer. Such a wish can be understood when it is remembered that M. Bernand acted for M. Caillaux during the latter's divorce.

M. Caillaux in giving his testimony made an attack on Former Prime Ministers Barthou and Briand, saying Fabre told him that Briand had ordered Rochette's arrest. Fabre entered the order in his notebook and later asked if he ought to tell the whole story of Rochette's arrest to the original investigating commission. M. Briand said that would be a serious matter and M. Barthou added, speaking to Briand: "Don't forget old man Fabre's notebook." Fabre told M. Caillaux that he was ordered not to tell the whole truth.

Caillaux told the commission that his party had invited him to resume its presidency, now that he was no longer a minister. He intended to quit public life, he said, and would not be a candidate at the next elections. He would devote himself entirely to his private sorrows. It is understood that his party intends to secure his election, even if he is himself unwilling to be a candidate.

BRUSHES ASIDE ALL FORMALITY

Wilson Describes How It Feels To Be President.

RECOUNTS HIS EXPERIENCES

Bit Impatient at Being Described as a Cold, Austere Person, a Mere Thinking Machine—Certain That at Times He More Nearly Resembles a Volcano—Makes Remarkable Address Before National Press Club.

Washington, March 21.—President Wilson delivered a remarkable speech at the house-warming of the National Press club's quarters. In it he laid aside all formality and told the members of the club exactly how it had felt to be president, recounting his sensations, his experiences and his methods of forgetting the heavy responsibilities of his office. The speech showed the human side of President Wilson better than anything he has said or done since he entered the White House.

The president showed plainly that he is getting a bit impatient at being described as a cold, austere person—a veritable thinking machine. He failed to recognize himself in any such description. In fact he was certain that at times he more nearly resembled a bubbling volcano.

The president said in part: "I was just thinking of my sense of confusion of identity, sometimes, when I read articles about myself. I have never read an article about myself in which I recognized myself, and I have come to the impression that I must be some kind of a fraud, because I think a great many of these articles are written in absolute good faith. I tremble to think of the variety and falseness in the impressions I make, and it is being borne in on me so that it may change my very disposition—that I am a cold and removed person who has a thinking machine inside which he adjusts to the circumstances, which he does not allow to be moved by any winds of affection or emotion of any kind, but turns like a cold searchlight on anything that is presented to his attention and makes it work."

"You may not believe it, but I sometimes feel like a fire from a far from-extinct volcano, and if the lava does not seem to spill over, it is because you are not high enough to see into the basin."

Fears Making Blunder.

"When I think of the number of men who are looking to me as the representative of a party of hope with the hope of all varieties of salvation from the things they are struggling in the midst of, it makes me tremble. It makes me tremble not only with a sense of my own inadequacy and weakness, but as if I were shaken by the very things that are shaking them; and if I seem circumspect, it is because I am so dilligently trying not to make any colossal blunders."

"No man could imagine himself the government of the United States, but he could understand that some part of his fellow citizens had told him to go and run a certain part of it the best he knew how. The machine is so much greater than himself, the office is so much greater than himself the office is so much greater than he can ever be, and the most he can do is to look grave enough and self-possessed enough to seem to fill it."

"I like human beings, and it would be a great pleasure if, unobserved and unattended, I could be knocked around as I have been accustomed to being knocked around all my life. I have a scruple as president against breaking the law, and disguising one's self is against the law, but if I could disguise myself and not get caught, I would go out, be a free American citizen once more, and have a jolly time."

WILSON ATTACKED BY NEW YORKERS

New York, March 21.—Three thousand persons in Carnegie hall heard Charles Littlefield, Bourke Cockran, Frank Moss and Bainbridge Colby when they attacked President Wilson for demanding a repeal of the free tolls provision of the Panama canal act.

The resolutions adopted commended Senator O'Gorman for opposing the proposed repeal and called upon congress "to repudiate decisively these insolent demands of a foreign power and to stand like adamant against all attempts to surrender the vital interests of our country, whether these attempts be made by another branch of the government, betrayed into panic by cleverly inspired fears of imaginary dangers, or suggested by those whose snobbish subservience to certain foreign opinion makes them, as it made the Tories of the days of the revolution and as it makes the ambassador of today, look upon English claims as superior to American rights and who seeks in every controversy that arises between the two countries to serve England by the betrayal of America." Supreme Court Justice Samuel Seabury presided.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitution al remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. JOHN BULL LOOKS FOR AN UPRISING

By Associated Press.

Peshawur, India, March 21.—With secrecy and speed unusual in public work, England army engineers are rushing to completion the forts and roads of Khyber Pass, to make it a Gibraltar against invasion from the north. As domestic unrest grows in India, the fear of the Russian bear and the unruly states between Russia and the Indian empire increases, and England is clearly determined not to be attacked in the rear in the event of a native rebellion.
Two years ago the road across the famous pass was hardly more than a trail for pack animals, but today Khyber is traversed by two roads suitable for the fastest and heaviest military traction. The defensive works have been constructed with such secrecy that none of the details are known to the public. It is believed that the natural battlements formed by the cliffs above the roads are honeycombed with hidden embrasures behind which great mountain guns lie hidden. Competent engineers believe that unless the defending force is cut off from the south, the pass can be defended by a small garrison even against a host such as the ancient invaders of India brought down from the north.

POLITICIAN DIES AT WAVERLY

Gen. Jones, of Waverly, died at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, aged 83 years.

Baseball in Alaska.

Under conditions probably more unusual than anywhere else in the world is baseball played at Ketchikan, Alaska, where the only level stretch of land suitable for grounds is along the ocean edge. Consequently the games must be played at low tide, for nearly twenty feet of water cover the home plate when the tide is at flood.—Argonaut.

British Girls.

From their nicely poised chins to their long, swaying legs, British maidens are restraint personified. They are civil, even kind. They talk the most gracious kind-songs. Sometimes they even go so far as to smile archly. But never for a moment is there a suggestion of that frank, merry boyishness which is born and bred in the American girl.—New York Tribune.

has done it with such entire success that new prestige was given to our city.
As a national G. A. R. committee-man and one of the National Executive Committee of seven, Col. Millikan was one of the best known G. A. R. men of the entire country.
It was in special recognition of Col. Millikan's personal efforts in G. A. R. connections, and especially during the Encampment, that members of the G. A. R. Post and of the Encampment committee presented him with a beautiful loving cup at Christmas—a significant tribute of sincere affection.
Rounding out the last few years of his life with kindnesses and generosity too numerous to mention, and many never known to outsiders, one of the last acts of his life was to announce that he would furnish the Industrial School of the Stimson building.
Although a serious trouble with his eyes, causing Col. Millikan much inconvenience, he was "in the harness" to the last hour of his life.
Less than a month ago he was the dominant spirit of the Annual Men's Supper of Grace church, as he has been ever since the first supper, and was no less active in other interests.
Col. Millikan's wife, who was Miss Lizzie Dahl, daughter of Mrs. George Dahl, died in 1899, leaving a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Millikan Westerfield, and son, Jess Millikan. Since the marriage of the daughter, Col. Millikan and his son continued to reside at the home residence, Mrs. Westerfield spending the summers with them.
Mr. and Mrs. Westerfield are expected to arrive from New Orleans tonight and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dahl and daughters from Florida Sunday night or Monday morning.

SEEKING SHARE OF CHINA'S BUSINESS

Association Tries to Further Interests of Americans.

OPPORTUNITIES ARE WIDE.

Attempts to Impress State Department at Washington With the Necessity For Instant Action in Order That Americans May Share Profits—Other Nations Have Acted.
Peking, China.—The Americans of North China have formed a society under the style of the American Association of North China to foster the interests of American commerce.
They want a commercial attaché to be assigned to duties of investigation throughout China following the practice of other nations, which keep a lively propaganda campaign afoot on behalf of their nationals and they are appealing to the American state department to appoint such an official.
Foremost among those who recognize the need for activity is the new minister, Paul Reinsch. Dr. Reinsch brings to his office a keen perception of the tremendous possibilities which await intelligent effort in this field and a desire to see the American flag holding its own if not topping the bunting of other nations.
Careful investigations have shown him that Americans have great opportunities for a market which is not only valuable but which it is also necessary to cultivate now in order to have it developed when the opening of the Panama canal will cause the westward drift of trade to become more and more pronounced.
The association, if it develops along the lines the founders have in view, will be a prod for the government. It will vigilantly protect American interests, advise the administration upon conditions and suggest action best calculated to keep American commerce moving with an upward tendency rather than stagnating or slipping backward.
The first desire, therefore, is for the appointment of a commercial attaché, whose duty it will be to report constantly upon commercial conditions, journey to various centers and make compilations which will be of material benefit to those engaged or who wish to engage in operations in this part of the world.
The consuls at many ports already contribute valuable aid in this direction through their commercial reports, but a central bureau is needed to coordinate them.

DR. PAUL REINSCH.

The commercial attaché would have more of a roving commission, and his information could be first hand. Other nations have such officials constantly on the lookout for new avenues.
As a matter of fact, this proposal is not new. It was being investigated by the previous administration and the probability is that a commercial attaché would have been at work in China had there been no change. That it is a desirable one is obvious.
China is the largest market in the world that is in process of development. Railway communication is being pushed ahead vigorously. Within the past year the government signed agreements with foreign financiers for the construction of more mileage than has been allotted in the past thirty-eight years.
Every other nation is striving energetically to lay foundations for commercial development, while America, the logical supplier, is idle. Americans in China appreciate this to the full, and the formation of the North China association is their answer to the question as to what they are doing to try to make the home land understand that there is a magnificent market awaiting exploitation, but which will not be permitted to await much longer. Other nations are wide awake and are securing the plums as fast as they can gather them.
She Wins Haircut and Shave.
Ortley, S. D.—At a recent farmers institute here business men offered prizes for various exhibits. The village barber offered a dollar bottle of shampoo liquid for the best exhibit of popcorn and a shave and haircut for the second best. Mrs. L. French won the second prize.
Energetic.
